Here's a Sign to Hang Up in Your Dairy Barn.

W D Hoard, ex-governor of Wisconsin and father of the dairy industry in his state, has this sign—a notice to all employees—well displayed in his large dairy barn at Fort Atkinson:

"The rule to be observed in this stable at all times toward cattle, young and old, is that of patience and kindness. A man's usefulness in a herd ceases at once when he loses his temper and bestows rough usage. Men must be patient. Cattle are not reasoning human beings. Remember this barn is the home of mothers. MR GRILES. Now as a mother should be treated. The giving of milk is a function of motherhood; rough treatment lessens the flow. That injures me as well as you. Always keep these ideas in mind in dealing with my cattle."

Good Accounting System for Country Creameries.

Experts Will Help Install the New Uniform Plans.

People in Louisiana and Mississippi who operate country creameries should write to the department of agriculture at Washington for bulletin 559, which contains a uniform accounting system for creameries. The system is adaptable to large and small creameries. That there is great need of standardizing account keeping in this field of business is recognized by those who have come in contact with it. This system has been developed and perfected in actual operation in a number of country creameries, and being uniform it can be used by the various types of creameries, from those privately owned and operated to co-operative concerns. The department of agriculture is prepared to furnish printer's copy of the forms comprising the system, and in so far as practicable, to render assistance through its representatives to creameries desiring its installation.

Gen. Bliss Succeeds Gen. Scott as Chief of Staff.

Washington, Sept 22—Maj Gen Tasker H Bliss today became Chief of Staff of the Army, succeeding Maj. Gen. Hugh L Scott, who reached the retiring age of 64 years. In making announcement of the retirement of Gen Scott, Secretary of War Baker said that he would be called back into service immediately and assigned to duty in connection with training of troops on American soil.

Secretary Baker said he was not yet ready to announce the Assistant Chief of Staff. Gen Bliss has been Acting Chief since Gen Scott left for Russia several months ago as a member of the American mission. Gen Bliss will reach the age of retirement on December 21.
